

AI Disclaimer

Important Notice: How to Spot Fraudulent Recruiting Activity

We are aware that scammers sometimes impersonate recruiters to target job seekers. Please review the information below so you know how to identify legitimate communications from The Hershey Company and avoid recruitment fraud.

- All communications from The Hershey Company will come from someone with an @hersheys.com email
- We will never ask you for sensitive personal information on the phone or email. All information will be collected via your profile or your application on the Careers site.
- We will never request access to accounts or payment to/from a third party

Protecting your personal information is important to us. If you believe you've been contacted by someone fraudulently posing as a Hershey employee, please notify us so we can investigate and take appropriate action.